

AT LOCKHEED MARTIN, WE'RE ENGINEERING A BETTER TOMORROW.

In our increasingly interconnected world, the concept of global security has come to encompass a broad spectrum of challenges. Modern leaders look to companies with strong experience in advanced technology, wide-ranging capabilities and a broad perspective to solve complex challenges. Our global team partners closely with our customers and approaches each mission and challenge as our own, whether we're supporting defense modernization programs, ensuring energy and economic security, protecting vital networks from cyber attack or launching satellites into orbit. When it comes to success in complex environments, we know partnerships make a world of difference.

Strengthening a legacy.

The friendship between Hawaii and Japan is deeply rooted in our traditions, our values, and our people. First Hawaiian Bank is proud to welcome the 2014 U.S. – Japan Council annual conference attendees and applaud your efforts in building a better future for the generations to come.

WELCOME Letter from Honolulu Host Committee

e are pleased to welcome you to the 2014 U.S.-Japan Council (USJC) Annual Conference, "U.S.-Japan Connections: Contributing to Growth, Security and Sustainability."

With its historical, cultural and strategic significance in the Asia Pacific, Hawaii is the perfect venue for a Conference that connects the East and West. Although the Council has held many events in the Aloha state, this is our first Annual Conference here. More USJC Members are based in Hawaii than in any other region, which is testament to the state's exceptionally strong Japanese American network and engagement in U.S.-Japan relations. We are proud to demonstrate our very strong ties here, from politics and business to academia.

We thank the many speakers, moderators and discussants who brought extraordinary expertise to every topic and event. With our plenary sessions and twelve in-depth sessions, the Conference highlights Hawaii's unique value to the mainland United States and Japan, with topics ranging from the U.S.-Japan security relationship to business growth opportunities and industries like tourism. We also explore global topics like sustainability, disaster management and diversity in the workplace, as well as the TOMODACHI Initiative. The Conference takes advantage of the beautiful setting of Hawaii with an optional visit that was held to Maui providing invaluable educational tours on clean energy and technology. Finally, the outdoor culinary festival that brings together twelve chefs from Hawaii and Japan to collaborate with one another will celebrate our new culinary diplomacy initiative, which aims to promote cross-cultural dialogue and understanding through sharing meals.

We express our sincere gratitude to the Host Committee, who worked for more than a year to bring our biggest Annual Conference yet to Hawaii. Without their dedication, time and resources, this Conference simply would not have been possible. We appreciate our Corporate Members and many sponsors who generously contributed to this year's Conference. We would like to thank our Board of Directors and Board of Councilors for their ongoing support and guidance, as well as our Council Members who provided us their expertise. We extend a special thank you to the USJC staff, who organized this Conference and many other programs throughout the year.

We thank you for your participation in the 2014 Annual Conference, and your continued participation and support of the U.S.-Japan Council in our commitment to strengthen U.S.-Japan relations. We look forward to seeing you at next year's Conference in Tokyo, Japan.

Irene Hirano Inouye President

Thomas Iino
Chairman, Board of Directors

Aloha!

On behalf of the Hawaii Host Committee, e komo mai --- welcome to Hawaii. We are pleased to host the 2014 U.S.-Japan Council Annual Conference, where leaders from numerous sectors will convene to discuss current issues in business, entrepreneurship, U.S.-Japan security, clean energy, tourism and economic development. I look forward to hearing from our young TOMO-DACHI leaders, the innovative public-private partnership between the U.S.-Japan Council and the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo which invests in the next generation of Japanese and American leaders through educational and cultural exchanges and leadership programs.

Located halfway between Japan and the continental United States, Hawaii is the perfect place to bring together supporters of the U.S.-Japan Council, whose mission is to strengthen people-to-people relationships in Japan and the United States. Hawaii is home to nearly 280,000 Japanese Americans, or about 20% of its entire population. Additionally, Hawaii remains a favorite destination for Japanese travelers. In 2013, nearly 1.5 million Japanese tourists travelled to Hawaii.

It's been over 125 years since the first immigrants came to Hawaii from Hiroshima, Japan. There is no doubt that Japan's culture and traditions have greatly influenced modern-day Hawaii, where we embrace musubi as a favorite staple in local cuisine; celebrate obon when people can remember loved ones who have passed; and bring omiyage to family, friends and co-workers upon returning from a trip. Mixed with the Hawaiian spirit of aloha and the traditions of Japan, Hawaii has become a special place in the Pacific where east meets west.

After the Conference, we encourage you to enjoy Hawaii's rich Japanese American history. Through the Japanese Cultural Center of Hawaii, we have arranged a special tour of Hono'uli'uli, which will take participants to a little-known internment camp in Central Oahu. Other iconic sites in Honolulu await your exploration, including Pearl Harbor, Diamond Head, Waikiki, North Shore and the numerous beaches and outdoor activities Hawaii offers.

Please join me in thanking the dedicated and hard-working members of the Honolulu Host Committee who worked in partnership with the equally hard-working USJC staff. Thank you to all who made the trip to Hawaii, and especially to our colleagues and friends from Japan. I hope the weekend will be a time to reacquaint yourselves with old friends, and make new friends as well, in the spirit of strengthening people-to-people relationships.

With Aloha and Appreciation,

Wendy Abe Honolulu Host Committee Co-Chair

4 U.S.-Japan Council Conference 2014

U.S.-Japan Council Conference 2014

am honored to send greetings to all those gathered for the fifth annual conference hosted by the U.S.-Japan Council (USJC) in Honolulu.

Over the course of nearly 70 years, the U.S.-Japan relationship has emerged from the ashes of war into the cornerstone of our security and is a key pillar of our engagement with the Asia-Pacific region; it is a global partnership providing benefits to people worldwide. The grassroots efforts of organizations such as the USJC and its dedicated membership play an important role in motivating the United States and Japan to build a world more prosperous, more just, and more democratic.

I have a long family history with Japan. Many years ago, my grandfather's cousin served as ambassador to Tokyo. Today, my cousin, Laura, helps coordinate the TOMODACHI public private partnership, while her husband still serves as a Navy pilot stationed at Atsugi naval air base. My family is proof that the arc of U.S.-Japan relations bends toward mutual cooperation and close partnership.

I had the privilege to meet and speak with young TOMODACHI program participants during my first visit to Japan as Secretary of State. They were brimming with great ideas and ambition, and their enthusiasm will enhance the ties between the United States and Japan. My team at the Department of State is working hard to expand academic and cultural exchange opportunities for Japanese and American youth. The USJC is a key partner in this effort.

I congratulate the U.S.-Japan Council for its continued commitment to mutual understanding and bilateral cooperation, and I thank the delegates assembled in Honolulu for the role they play, every day, in advancing the U.S.-Japan relationship.

ABOUT The U.S.-Japan Council

OVERVIEW

The U.S.-Japan Council is a 501(c)(3) non-profit educational organization that contributes to strengthening U.S.-Japan relations by bringing together diverse leadership, engaging stakeholders and exploring issues that benefit communities, businesses and government entities on both sides of the Pacific. By promoting people-to-people relationships, the Japanese American-led organization cultivates an international network, and collaborates with other organizations and institutions to develop programs that allow leaders to engage with their counterparts in the United States and Japan. The Council also develops the next generation of leaders committed to a vibrant and dynamic U.S.-Japan relationship.

The Council was founded in 2009 and is headquartered in Washington, DC with a regional office in Los Angeles, CA. In 2012, the U.S.-Japan Council (Japan) was created to support the administration of the TOMODACHI Initiative and support other networking activities in Japan. The U.S.-Japan Council (Japan) maintains an office in Tokyo, Japan.

PROGRAMS

U.S.-Japan Council signature programs are the TOMODACHI Initiative, Annual Conference, Japanese American Leadership Delegation, TOMODACHI Emerging Leaders Program, Japan Week, Governors' Circle and regional programs. Additionally, the Council collaborates on legislative networking and business networking with the shared goal of bringing together Japanese American leaders and their counterparts for collaboration and exchange. Regional networking receptions, policy events and other activities are planned throughout the year.

MEMBERSHIP

Japanese Americans play a catalytic role in strengthening and diversifying U.S.-Japan relations. Recognizing this unique role, the U.S.-Japan Council cultivates an international network of more than 300 Japanese Americans known as Council Members and provides them with leadership opportunities to help shape U.S.-Japan relations. USJC also maintains a dynamic group of young professionals known as Associate Members, recognizes its close supporters as Friends of the Council, and engages Corporate Members who provide valuable financial support to the organization annually.

OPENING RECEPTION

The 2014 Annual Conference officially started with an Opening Reception at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel. USJC Board Member Michael Hirai served as Emcee. Joining the conference attendees were local dignitaries representing the government, military, business and education leadership of Hawaii. Japanese Samoan former sumo wrestler KONISHIKI performed, accompanied by fellow musicians as well as hula dancers. Mitsui & Co., Ltd.

generously supported this Opening Reception, which also capped off a full day of pre-Conference activities, including those described below.

PRE-CONFERENCE ACTIVITIES

R3ADY Asia-Pacific Summit

R3ADY Asia-Pacific (formerly the APDR3 Network) works to reduce the risks of natural disasters and build resilient communities and economies through innovative and strategic partnerships. R3ADY strengthens resilience in the Asia-Pacific region by aligning the expertise and resources of diverse stakeholders, sharing knowledge, information and perspectives, and designing effective solutions and strategies. R3ADY Asia-Pacific was launched by Secretary of State Hillary Clinton in 2011 at the Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) Summit in Honolulu. Network members include: Chevron Corporation, Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), Ford Foundation, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), Rockefeller Foundation, U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID), U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE), U.S. Chamber of Commerce, U.S.-Japan Council, U.S. Pacific Command (PACOM) and University of Hawaii.

On October 9, R3ADY convened disaster management experts from the United States and Japan to identify best practices in multi-sectoral collaborations for disaster management from both countries. Participants learned from case studies of existing partnerships and considered how to scale successful approaches. The dialogue focused on three stages of disaster management: emergency response, long-term recovery, and risk reduction. Special thanks to Chevron and JPMorgan Chase Foundation for their generous support of this event.

Business Networking Meeting

Each year at the Annual Conference, USJC brings together Japanese business executives representing Japanese Chambers of Commerce in the United States and Japanese American business executives to continue efforts to build strong networks among the U.S. and Japan business sector and the Japanese American community. Throughout the year, these business networks organize regional networking events to provide opportunities for the Japanese Chambers of Commerce and USJC Members to share information about the Japanese business sector in the United States, address areas of mutual concern that impact the business sector and promote new economic collaborations to ensure strong U.S.-Japan relations. Special thanks to the Japan Commerce Association of Washington, DC (JCAW), Japanese Business Association of Southern California (JBA), Japanese Chamber of Commerce of Northern California (JCCNC) and the Japanese Chamber of Commerce of Industry in Hawaii (JCCIH) for their leadership in promoting business networking with Japanese Americans and for their leadership on this annual meeting.

Maui Clean Energy & Technology Tour

The Maui Clean Energy & Technology Tour took participants across The Valley Island of Maui to learn more about Hawaiian business and government initiatives being undertaken in the field of clean energy technology and Smart Grid energy reforms. The tour included a visit to the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Company (HC&S) that focused on projects testing new energy crops for biomass co-generation. Given its 100% energy self-sufficiency, HC&S is one of the leading authorities on "green" energy technology and innovation. Mid-day, the tour stopped at The Dunes at Maui Lani for lunch, where Maui Mayor Alan Arakawa greeted the group. Later, participants visited the Innovation Center to learn more about JUMPSmartMaui. Hosted by Hitachi, Ltd. and the New Energy and Industrial Technology Development Organization (NEDO), this section of the tour outlined Maui's pursuit of improving integration of variable renewable energy resources and preparing the electric system for widespread adoption of all electric vehicles. The day ended with a reception at the King Kamehameha clubhouse. Special thanks to the Maui Economic Development Board and Hitachi, Ltd.

Locally-Owned. Nationally Recognized. Financially Strong.

As Hawaii's largest locally-owned Property & Casualty insurer, we understand the important role leadership plays in economic development and we are proud to support the U.S.-Japan Council and its mission to inspire the next generation of business leaders across the Asia-Pacific Region. Having been recognized as one of the Top 50 P&C insurers in the nation for seven consecutive years, our success is a direct reflection of our customers, partner agents and employees. Together, we have been investing in Hawaii's communities for nearly 75 years.

About the U.S.- Japan Council (USJC) Culinary Diplomacy Program

"The easiest way to win hearts and minds is through the stomach." — a modern-day culinary proverb.

Sharing a meal is one of the oldest diplomatic tools and promotes cross-cultural dialogue and understanding. Inspired by the catalytic role of food, the U.S.- Japan Council has launched Culinary Diplomacy Programs throughout the United States and Tokyo over 2014 and 2015.

These programs bring together stakeholders in the U.S.-Japan relationship, corporate sponsors and USJC Members for innovative food and networking events featuring delectable cuisine from local chefs and restaurants. Join us by supporting or attending a regional event near you to experience the essence of culinary diplomacy and build lasting relationships over the common appreciation of food!

MORNING BREAKOUT SESSIONS

PANEL DISCUSSIONS

Capitalizing on Business Opportunities Abroad

This session will explore corporate growth strategies between Japan and the United States in the context of government actions to encourage international expansion. Speakers will discuss how Japanese companies with large overseas operations are capitalizing on growth opportunities and new ways to globalize their businesses. Special attention will be given to steps that the Abe administration is taking to stimulate economic growth and enable international expansion. The role of Hawaii as a "test bed" for adapting business models for success in the United States will also be discussed.

- Mr. Tab Bowers, Executive Vice President, Marketing and Business Development, American Savings Bank (Moderator)
- Mr. Norihiko Ishiguro, Vice-Minister for International Affairs, Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry, Japan
- Mr. Richard Lim, Director, Department of Business, Economic Development & Tourism, State of Hawaii (DBEDT)
- Ms. Kathy Matsui, Chief Japan Equity Strategist, Co-Head of Macro Research Asia, Goldman Sachs
- Mr. Masaaki Tanaka, Deputy President, Mitsubishi UFJ Financial Group, Inc.

Diversity & Inclusion in the Global Marketplace

Diversity & Inclusion (D&I) addresses untapped business opportunities and unmet societal challenges. The goal of this session is to explore practical solutions on how both the Japanese and Japanese American experiences can help bridge the D&I gap in Japan. Four global inclusion leaders from Japan and the United States will share best D&I practices from both sides of the Pacific. To function in our global marketplace and communities, it's imperative to have a diverse and inclusive lens. Please join this engaging discussion on this timely topic.

- Ms. Janelle Sasaki, Executive Director of Diversity & Inclusion, Ernst & Young Advisory Co., Ltd. Japan (Moderator)
- Ms. Phyllis J. Campbell, Chairman, JPMorgan Chase & Co., Pacific Northwest

- Ms. Makiko Fukui, President, Harmony Residence, Inc.
- Mr. Yuta Hasumi, Manager for Diversity & Inclusion, AIG Japan
- Dr. Curtiss Takada Rooks, Assistant Professor, Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts, Loyola Marymount University

Economic Development through Tourism & Events

This session will look at successful tourism markets and how to promote international accessibility, including the impact on community and economic development. Case studies will be presented from Japan, Hawaii and mainland United States on the development of major conferences with events of international participation.

- Mr. Dave Erdman, President and CEO, PacRim Marketing Group, Inc. (Moderator)
- Mr. Randall Tanaka, President and CEO, The First Step
- Mr. Jay Gray, Vice President, Global Market Development, Brand USA
- Mr. Tsukasa Harufuku, President and CEO, JTB Hawaii, Inc.
- Mr. Eric Takahata, Managing Director, Hawaii Tourism Japan
- Ms. Yumi Yamaguchi, Vice Commissioner, Japan Tourism Agency, Ministry of Land, Infrastructure, Transport and Tourism, Japan

Serving Up Culinary Diplomacy through Collaboration

Sharing a meal is one of the oldest diplomatic tools and promotes cross-cultural dialogue and understanding, organically transcending boundaries and creating bridges. This session explores the catalytic role of food in promoting people-to-people and business relations between countries. Presentations will chronicle and share the experience of the chefs participating in the Culinary Festival at this year's Annual Conference and provide insight into how the collaboration of chefs and culinary events can be mirrored in business, government and the arts while lending strength to better U.S.-Japan relations.

- Mr. Stephen Kagawa, President and CEO, The Pacific Bridge Companies (Moderator)
- Ms. Candice Kumai, Chef, Food Writer and TV Host
- Mr. Masaki Ukai, Chairman of the Board, Ukai Co., Ltd.
- Chef Roy Yamaguchi, Chef and Founder, Roy's Restaurants
- Ms. Reiko Yoshikawa, CEO, Wishbone Tokyo

ROUNDTABLE DISCUSSIONS

Developing Cross-Cultural Leaders

USJC engages leaders of all generations, and seeks to develop the next generation of diverse leaders committed to a vibrant and dynamic U.S.-Japan relationship. We seek to broaden leaders' ability to inspire others, and to cultivate a more service-oriented and entrepreneurial mindset. This session will explore how to develop global leaders of all generations: What makes a cross-cultural leader? How can we develop ourselves and provide leadership opportunities to others? A dialogue among role models, leadership development experts and emerging leaders will help identify tangible ways to develop cross-cultural leadership.

- Ms. Tracey Doi, Group Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, Toyota Motor Sales, USA, Inc. (Moderator)
- Ms. Atsuko Fish, Trustee, Fish Family Foundation
- Mr. Todd Guild, Senior Director, McKinsey & Company, Inc.
- Mr. Colbert M. Matsumoto, Chairman and CEO, Island Insurance Company, Ltd.
- Mr. Phil Scanlan, Founder and Chairman, NEW YORK GLOBAL LEADERS DIALOGUE
- Dr. Britt Yamamoto, Executive Director and Founder, iLEAP

New Models of Urban Revitalization & Sustainability

Urban revitalization efforts have focused on smart cities to reduce the negative impacts of urban migration (waste, greenhouse gas emissions and consumption of natural resources) while increasing community engagement, sustainability and energy efficiency and production. Japan alone has developed over 200 smart city projects. Globally, thousands of smart-city projects are collectively worth at least USD 650 billion in 2014. This session will explore new urban models including innovations in disaster resiliency including food, water and energy security, community engagement, and public-private collaboration in financing and planning.

- Ms. Bernice Bowers, Program Director, Center for Environment Research Education & Development (CERED), Asia Pacific (Moderator)
- Dr. Sam Gon, Chief Scientist, The Nature Conservancy
- Mr. Craig Ishii, Director, Kizuna
- Mr. Alan Nishio, President, Little Tokyo Service Center
- Mr. Jon Wallenstrom, President, Forest City Hawaii
- Mr. Thomas Yee, Project Director, Little Tokyo Eco-Region

Please note: Biographies for Roundtable Participants are not included in this Program Booklet. Introductions of Roundtable Participants will be made at the Roundtables.

AFTERNOON BREAKOUT SESSIONS

PANEL DISCUSSIONS

Entrepreneurial Thinking for Business Success

This session focuses on the need in both the United States and Japan for entrepreneurial thinking in our cultures in order to remain vibrant economies with bright futures. Discussion areas include identifying where innovation and entrepreneurship are flourishing, capitalizing on these opportunities and how it all integrates into a strategic plan for local economies and individual companies.

- Ms. Susan Yamada, Executive Director, Pacific Asian Center for Entrepreneurship, University of Hawaii at Manoa (Moderator)
- Mr. Warren Haruki, CEO, Grove Farm and Maui Land & Pineapple Co.
- Ms. Merle Aiko Okawara, Chairman, JC Comsa Corp.
- Honorable John V. Roos, Former U.S. Ambassador to Japan & CEO, The Roos Group

Insights into the U.S.-Japan Security Relationship

This session will explore the U.S.-Japan security relationship through senior U.S. and Japanese political, military and diplomatic perspectives in an attempt to explore both areas of overlap and divergence. Topics will include both "hard power" elements such as the role of the alliance in maintaining regional stability, and "soft power" dimensions such as political and civil society engagement. Panelists will examine the U.S. "rebalance" to Asia and the role of the U.S.-Japan alliance within that framework, as well as the impact of changes implemented by the Abe administration.

- Mr. Torkel Patterson, Vice Chairman, International High Speed Rail Association (Moderator)
- Mr. Naoyuki Agawa, Professor, Keio University
- Maj Gen Michael B. Compton, Air National Guard Assistant to Commander, Pacific Air Forces
- Honorable Tulsi Gabbard, United States House of Representatives (D-HI2) and Member, House Armed Services and Foreign Affairs Committee

The Making of the TOMODACHI Generation

A recent McKinsey & Co. strategic review of the TOMODACHI Initiative showcased the effectiveness of TOMODACHI's diverse programs in providing support along the continuum of becoming a cross-cultural leader. From exposure to inspiration through learning to leadership development, the TOMODACHI Initiative has given opportunities to young people in the United States and Japan across the full spectrum. This session showcases members of the TOMODACHI Generation at different stages of development. They will share their personal journeys, and highlight the diversity of programs in TOMODACHI while demonstrating its transformative impact.

- Mr. Todd Guild, Senior Director, McKinsey & Company, Inc. (Moderator)
- Ms. Aki Marceau, Land Use and Sustainability Manager, Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation (TOMODACHI-Mitsui & Co. Leadership Program, 2014)
- Mr. Casey T. Miyashiro, Junior, University of Hawaii (TOMODACHI Inouye Scholars Program, University of Hawaii, 2014)
- Mr. David Nakanishi, Freshman, University of Hawaii (TOMODACHI-Rainbow Program, 2014)
- Ms. Ayaka Ogita , Junior, Tohoku University (TOMODACHI Sumitomo Corporation Scholars Program, 2014)
- Ms. Chihiro Saito, Program Officer, Good Neighbors Japan (TOMODACHI NGO Leadership Program supported by J.P. Morgan, 2014)

Principles for Clean Energy Investments

This session will examine the implementation factors for clean energy initiatives and will provide guiding principles for energy initiatives in the areas of project economics, energy technology and political/strategic communications considerations. While energy projects are heavily impacted by local conditions and environment, common considerations including return on investment analysis, selection of energy technologies for efficiencies, and brown energy reduction all impact project decision-making and may require community engagement. Speakers with diverse backgrounds will present case studies from Japan, Hawaii and the U.S. mainland about tradeoff decisions in cost, timing, technologies and other considerations.

- Ms. Dawn Lippert, Director, Energy Excelerator, Pacific International Center for High Technology Research (PICHTR) (Moderator)
- RADM David M. Boone, USN (Ret.), Vice President, Business Development, Chicago Bridge and Iron Federal Services
- Ms. Constance H. Lau, President and CEO, Hawaiian Electric Industries, Inc.
- RDML Bret J. Muilenburg, Commander, Naval Facilities Engineering Command Pacific & Pacific Fleet Civil Engineer, United States Navy
- Mr. Katsuzo Suzuki, CEO, Bell Energy

U.S.-Japan-Korea Partnership Through Exchanges

USJC seeks to promote people-to-people relations to achieve the strong U.S.-Japan relations necessary for cooperation that benefits both countries and the Asia-Pacific region. Vibrant and positive U.S.-Japan-South Korea relations are also critically important. However, political tensions between Japan and Korea remain problematic. This roundtable, organized by the U.S.-Japan Council and Japan-America Society of Hawaii, explores how trilateral people-to-people relations such as cultural and educational exchanges can make positive contributions, especially the role of youth in moving relations forward. The discussion will explore what elements comprise successful trilateral exchanges, and how can they contribute to the larger relationship.

- Mr. Daniel Bob, Director of Programs and Senior Fellow, Sasakawa Peace Foundation USA (Moderator)
- Dr. Lee-Jay Cho, Chairman, Northeast Asia Economic Forum
- Ms. Nicole Forrester, Director of the Young Leaders Program at Pacific Forum

Please note: Biographies for Roundtable Participants are not included in this Program Booklet.Introductions of Roundtable Participants will be made at the Roundtables.

Keynote Speakers are distinguished leaders at the top of the government, business and civil society sectors, who form the core of the Annual Conference with their expertise and exceptional accomplishments in U.S.-Japan relations. USJC is honored to welcome the 2014 Keynote Speakers, who are:

Admiral Harry B. HARRIS, Jr., Commander, U.S. Pacific Fleet

Admiral Harris was born in Japan and raised in Tennessee and Florida. Following his graduation from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1978, he was designated as a naval flight officer and assigned to VP-44. His subsequent operational tours included deployments around the world and command of VP-46, Patrol and Reconnaissance Wing 1, Joint Task Force-Guantanamo, the U.S. 6th Fleet, and Striking and Support Forces NATO. He has served in every geographic combatant command region, and participated in both aviation and shore assignments. Among his major operations are Desert Shield/Desert Storm, Enduring Freedom and Odyssey Dawn. Harris' staff assignments include aide to Commander, U.S. Naval Forces Japan; chief speechwriter for the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS); and three tours on the Navy Staff. Prior to commanding the Pacific Fleet, he was the Assistant to the Chairman of the JCS where he served as the Chairman's direct representative to the Secretary of State and as the U.S. roadmap monitor for the Mid-East Peace Process. Harris was promoted to Admiral and assumed command of the U.S. Pacific Fleet in October 2013. He has logged 4,400 flight hours, including more than 400 combat hours, in maritime patrol and reconnaissance aircraft. His personal decorations include the Defense Distinguished Service Medal, Distinguished Service Medal (2 awards), Legion of Merit (3 awards) and the State Department's Distinguished Honor Award. He attended Harvard's Kennedy School of Government, Georgetown's School of Foreign Service and Oxford University.

His subsequent roles were mainly in the promotion of mineral and metal business, including a six-year assignment in London, until his appointment as General Manager of the Metals & Energy Administrative Division in 2005 to oversee the company's operations in the metal and energy industries around the world. He was promoted to President & CEO in April 2009, quickly gaining recognition within the company for his championing of Mitsui's long-held spirit of "Challenge & Innovation" as a means of creating businesses that have genuine value for societies around the world. He strongly believes that "it is people that matter the most" for companies aiming to achieve sustainable business success. In his free time, Mr. Iijima enjoys singing kouta (Japanese traditional ballads) accompanied by a samisen (a three-string Japanese banjo). He is also a passionate, lifelong fan of baseball.

2014 LIFETIME ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

in Advancing U.S.-Japan Relations

USJC is proud to present its inaugural Lifetime Achievement Awards in Advancing U.S.-Japan Relations. The awards honor individuals who have dedicated their lives to advancing U.S.-Japan relations, supporting the engagement of Japanese Americans and furthering the mission of the U.S.-Japan Council. The 2014 award recipients are: George ARIYOSHI, Former Governor, State of Hawaii

Governor George Ariyoshi, after a successful 32-year political career, remains active in international activities focused on U.S.-Japan relations. He has served on the Advisory Committee on Trade & Policy Negotiations (ACTPN) by Presidential appointment and the Japan Foundation Center for Global Partnership through appointment by the Government of Japan. He also served as Chairman of the Board of Directors of the East-West Center. Since its inception in January 2014, Governor Ariyoshi has been meeting with the Japan-Hawaii Legislators Friendship Association (JHLFA), discussing how Hawaii and Japan can work together to address common goals. Governor Ariyoshi has been a leader in expanding Hawaii's aerospace sector, serving as Senior Advisor representing the United States on the Japan-U.S. Science, Technology and Space Applications Program (JUSTSAP). On the 50th Anniversary of Hawaii's Statehood, Governor Ariyoshi wrote a book, Hawaii: The Past Fifty Years, The Next Fifty Years, donating copies to all high schools. He is active on the Board of Directors of Convergence CT, Inc.; Cellular Bioengineering, Inc.; Eyegenix; Skai Ventures; TruTag Technologies; and Daily Wellness Company. The Governor's wife, Jean, has actively promoted U.S.-Japan relations through her work as First Lady of Hawaii and in her work with Urasenke and other prominent organizations.

Governor George Ariyoshi is presented the Lifetime Achievement Award for his commitment to public service; for his work in establishing strong regional relationships with prefectures in Japan; and for his on-going work in developing strong ties with Japanese parliamentarians and business executives. He serves as a strong advocate for the vital role of Japanese Americans in U.S.-Japan relations and is a role model and mentor to leaders of all generations.

2014 LIFETIME ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

in Advancing U.S.-Japan Relations

Ryozo KATO, Former Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of Japan to the United States of America

Ambassador Ryozo Kato was the Ambassador of Japan to the United States of America from September 2001 to July 2008, and is the longest-serving Japanese Ambassador to the United States after the War. Ambassador Kato joined the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in April 1965. Ambassador Kato held several positions in the Ministry, such as Director of National Security Affairs Division in the North American Affairs Bureau, Director of Treaties Division in the Treaties Bureau, Deputy Director-General of North American Affairs Bureau, Director-General of Asian Affairs Bureau, Director-General of Foreign Policy Bureau and Deputy Minister for Foreign Affairs. As for overseas assignments, Ambassador Kato served four times in the United States, including his tenure as the Consul-General of Japan in San Francisco and the Ambassador in Washington, DC. Ambassador Kato also served in Australia and in the Arab Republic of Egypt. Since June 2009, Ambassador Kato is a Member of the Board of Mitsubishi Corporation. He served as Commissioner of Nippon Professional Baseball from 2008-2013. Ambassador Kato received his B.A. from the University of Tokyo and his LL.M from Yale Law School. Ambassador Kato's wife, Hanayo, has been a long-time partner in his diplomatic assignments and is a daughter of the late former Foreign Vice-Minister, Ambassador Shinsaku Hogen, who was also Consul-General of Japan in Los Angeles (1953-54).

Ambassador Ryozo Kato is presented the Lifetime Achievement Award for his work as Japan's Ambassador to the United States and his continuing efforts to develop collaborations between the United States and Japan. During his tenure, he forged a strong relationship between Americans and Japanese in all sectors. Ambassador Kato was instrumental in establishing the Japanese American Leadership Delegation, and advocating for the engagement of Japanese Americans in the U.S.-Japan relationship.

Paul TERASAKI, M.D., Chairman, Terasaki Foundation

Dr. Paul Terasaki is a second-generation Japanese American who is Chairman of the Terasaki Foundation and Professor Emeritus of Surgery at the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA). As a youth, he was incarcerated during World War II at Gila River internment camp in Arizona. After the war, he received his B.A., M.A. and Ph.D. from UCLA and was Professor of Surgery until 1999 when he retired. In 1964 he developed a microtoxicity test that evaluated donor and recipient tissue compatibility, adopted as the international standard for tissue typing. For the past 50 years, all kidney, heart, liver, pancreas, lung and bone marrow donors and recipients were typed using his tissue typing test. In 1984, he founded One Lambda, Inc., with eight of his former students, a company that supplied tissue typing and antibody detection reagents world-wide. Following his retirement, he has continued his research through the Terasaki Foundation Laboratory. His awards include the Order of the Sacred Treasure, Emperor of Japan (1992); the Medawar Prize, the International Transplant Society (1996); and the UCLA Medal (2012). Dr. Terasaki's wife Hisako is an accomplished artist and together they have generously supported UCLA, Japanese American and U.S.-Japan organizations through their Terasaki Foundation.

Dr. Paul Terasaki is presented the Lifetime Achievement Award for his contributions to advancing Japanese American and U.S.-Japan relations, including establishment of the Nibei Foundation to encourage fellowship and partnership between Japanese and Japanese American professors and doctors, the UCLA Terasaki Center for Japanese Studies, sponsorship of educational trips to Japan for college-age Japanese Americans following the Great East Japan Earthquake, and co-founder and major supporter of the U.S.-Japan Council.

ABOUT

the TOMODACHI Initiative

TOMODACHI Website

The TOMODACHI Initiative is a publicprivate partnership, born out of support for Japan's recovery from the Great East Japan Earthquake, that invests in the next generation of Japanese and American leaders through educational and cultural exchanges as well as leadership programs. We seek to foster a"TOMODACHI Generation" of young American and Japanese leaders who are committed to and engaged in strengthening U.S.-Japan relations, appreciate each other's countries and cultures, and possess the global skills and mindsets needed to contribute to and thrive in a more cooperative, prosperous, and secure world. TOMODACHI is led by the U.S.-Japan Council and the U.S. Embassy Tokyo, and is supported by the Government of Japan, corporations, organizations and individuals from the United States and Japan.

TOMODACHI supports activities in the following areas:

Educational Programs

These programs enrich and inspire young Japanese and Americans through exposure to each other's countries, cultures and ideas.

Cultural Programs in Sports, Music & the Arts

Sports, music and the arts provide gateways for Japanese and Americans to learn about and develop enduring interest in each other's cultures.

Leadership Programs

These programs help the next generation of young leaders and entrepreneurs develop skills and expertise that will guide them towards success.

We need your support!

TOMODACHI

Emerging Leaders Program - Class of 2014

The U.S.-Japan Council's TOMODACHI Emerging Leaders Program is an interactive, educational program designed to encourage the next generation of leaders to act as first movers, innovators and entrepreneurs in their professional fields.

Each year a pool of young Japanese American professionals is chosen from across the country to attend the Annual Conference and Annual Members Meeting. Emerging Leaders also participate in specialized programming at the conference including leadership training. The conference is a forum for education and networking among the highest levels of leadership in business, public policy, academia, journalism and community organizations. By providing access to senior leaders, education on cutting-edge topics and mentorship opportunities, the program aims to motivate young professionals to pursue further activities that promote strong and positive U.S.-Japan relations.

IN MEMORIAM

In the last year, the U.S.-Japan Council lost several dear friends. Please join us in remembering these four leaders in our community who promoted strong U.S.-Japan relations.

Howard H. BAKER, Jr., 1925 - 2014

Ambassador Baker was the United States Ambassador to Japan from 2001 to 2005. He formerly served as a U.S. Senator from Tennessee for 18 years, during which time he was Senate Minority Leader (1977-81), then Senate Majority Leader (1981-85). He later became the White House Chief of Staff to President Ronald Reagan (1987-88). His awards include the Presidential Medal of Freedom (1984) and the Grand Cordon of the Order of the Paulownia Flowers, awarded by the Government of Japan (2008). He was a member of the USJC Board of Councilors.

Thomas S. FOLEY, 1929 - 2013

Ambassador Foley was the United States Ambassador to Japan from 1997 to 2001. He was formerly a U.S. Representative from Washington State, and served as the Speaker of the House of Representatives from 1989 to 1995. He also served as Majority Leader and as Majority Whip. In 1996, the Government of Japan conferred upon him the Grand Cordon of the Order of the Rising Sun, Paulownia Flowers. Ambassador Foley was known for his commitment to bipartisanship and his efforts to bring together Congressional members from across the aisle to solve problems. He served on a community. A long-time USJC Council Member, Mr. Manshio had also served as the President of both the Chicago Japanese American Council and the Japanese Mutual Aid Society of Chicago. In 2009, he received a commendation from the Japanese Foreign Minister for his contributions to the U.S.-Japan relationship. Mr. Manshio was a participant in the Japanese American Leadership Delegation, the Annual Consuls General and Japanese American Leaders Meeting, and was an active member and meetings in Washington, DC.

Ms. Ogawa was an active member of the USJC community along with her husband, Mr. Hiromitsu Ogawa, who is a member of the USJC Board of Councilors. The Ogawas resided in Tokyo for 20 years, where she was a cross-cultural consultant specializing in Japan-U.S. orientations. The family has resided more recently in Silicon Valley, where Ms. Ogawa was a Partner at Quest Venture Partners and served on the board of the Japan Society of Northern California. In 2011, she and her husband were honored by the Association of Fundraising Professionals, Silicon Valley for the over one million dollars they raised for the Japanese earthquake and tsunami relief. They hosted a Northern California Members' reception for USJC at their Atherton residence in 2013, and Mr. Ogawa extended this generosity in July 2014 in honor of Ms. Ogawa.

number of privavte and public Boards of Directors, including the Japan-America Society of Washington. He was a member of the

USJC Board of Councilors, and regularly attended Council events

The U.S.-Japan Council bids a fond aloha to the friends and supporters we've lost and will remember their many enduring contributions.
