

Jeffrey Moy

Senior Program Director, National Collaborative for Health Equity National President, Japanese American Citizens League (JACL)

Jeffrey Moy serves as the JACL National President, having been elected to a second term in 2020. He is the youngest JACL National President in the post-World War II era and the first Yonsei JACL National President. He previously served on the JACL National Board as Vice President for Public Affairs and Chair of the National Youth/Student Council. Professionally, Jeffrey is Senior Program Director at the National Collaborative for Health Equity and Deputy Director for the Culture of Health Leaders National Program Center, a leadership program for those advancing health and equity in their communities. Jeffrey has a wide range of non-profit management experience including working on the Fulbright Scholars Program, starting a Health Equity team at the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, and running professional development programs at OCA - Asian Pacific American Advocates. He received his Masters in Public Administration from Baruch College through the National Urban Fellows program and his Bachelor degree from the University of Southern California. Born and raised in Maryland, Jeffrey recently relocated to San Francisco.